ARTIST STATEMENT: My paintings begin where my heart comes to rest—in those rare places where color, memory, and breath gather into a single moment of clarity. I paint to return to those moments, to hold them again, to listen for what they whispered to me the first time: you are here, fully, briefly, beautifully.

Nature is my teacher and my companion. Its quiet majesty, its wild power, its shifting moods offer me a kind of peace that asks nothing and gives everything. In my work, I try to carry that gift forward. I want viewers to feel the wind that moved through me, the light that wrapped itself around the edges of the day, the textured truth of simply being alive on this earth for a little while.

My style leans toward modern impressionism—lush color, fluid motion, and an energy that mirrors the pulse of the landscapes I love. These paintings are my way of honoring the ephemeral: the fleeting, the felt, the almost-forgotten. If they can bring someone even a moment of stillness or recognition, then I have shared what the world has so generously offered me.

My works have been in several galleries, juried and solo exhibitions and are in private corporate and personal collections in the US, Canada, Italy and Japan.
